

3.

Provided are the results of matrix completion:

We can see that our relative construction error yields to be extremely low = 0.19, meaning that our projected matrix closely resembles our original matrix, with the benefit of a much more reduced feature space / dimensionality.